Firm Takes Steps For Further Expansion Here

The Harrisburg Manufacturing Co., which has made hundreds of thousands of dozens of caps since it started operations in Harrisburg nearly five years ago, has taken definite steps for further expansion here.

Effective Dec. 1, the company has leased the entire first floor and basement of the Cummins building, where the operations at present are on the upper floors.

Right now the operations room occupies the third floor and the cutting room the rear half of the second floor.

The first floor in the future, Superintendent Richard Ford explained, will be used as a packing

U. of Michigan Students Near Riot Over Food

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — University of Michigan officials promised today to investigate men's dormitory meals which touched off a near-riot by some 1,000 students.

The demonstration began in a single dormitory. Its residents spilled out onto the campus and were joined by hundreds from other halls.

They marched through the streets of this college town, rocking cars and shouting "We want good food," "No more dog food" and "No more pork."

Police managed to quell the outburst and disperse the students in about an hour.

University officials minimized the disturbance and told the students that if they had any complaints about the food to take it to the proper officials. They said they would make a full investigation.

Officers said the demonstration began in one of the men's dormitories when the students eating dinner began banging silverware on the tables and stamping their feet. Some of the students turned over the plates of food on the table and refused to eat.

The meal consisted of Swiss cheese, corned beef, asparagus, vanilla pudding and milk.

Att'y Don Scott New President Of Dinner Club

Attorney Don Scott, Harrisburg, and Saline county abstractor, will be the new president of the Southern Illinois Dinner club for the coming year, it was announced Saturday night at the dinner meeting held at the Kurto country club. Dr. William F. Johnson of Eldorado will be the new vice president and Dr. H. J. Raley the new secretary.

The new officers will replace Sebe Kelly of Eldorado, president for the past year, and Rees Turner, Harrisburg, secretary.

A large crowd was present at the Saturday night meeting at which time Judge Harold C. Kessinger of Ridgewood, N. J., gave a very entertaining address, one which was filled with humor, yet had an underlying serious vein.

The great problems facing the United States today, the speaker said, are hopes for continued peace in a time of serious war threats, and a continued devaluation of our currency which is a threat to the livelihood of older citizens.

After a review of troublesome times the speaker said right will always prevail and no iron curtain will blot out the brotherhood of man.

The invocation was given by Bennett Skelton of Eldorado and Ed Brantley introduced the speaker and gave the closing prayer.

Sebe Kelly, president, presided at the meeting and renewals for next year's membership were accepted at the close of the meeting.

Eisenhower to Confer on New Defense Budget

Hagerty Says Planning Work In Final Phases

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The vacation White House announced today that President Eisenhower will hold a conference with government officials here Friday on the massive Defense Department budget for the 1958 fiscal year.

The announcement said the President will confer with ranking Defense Department civilian officials and Budget Bureau personnel on the defense budget.

White House spokesmen would not speculate on whether mounting world tensions of recent weeks might force higher defense spending by this government next year.

The overall defense budget for the present year is slightly over $36 billion dollars. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said planning work on the new budget had reached the final planning phases where the final decisions must be reached by top civilians of the government rather than the admirals and generals.

The President's conferees Friday at the Augusta National Golf club will be Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Asst. Sec. Secretary W. J. McNeil, Budget Director Percival Brundage and Sherman Adams, assistant to the President.

Hagerty said other technical staff personnel will join the meeting.

Hagerty conceded that calling the top defense and budget officials to Augusta meant the President undoubtedly will remain here until at least sometime next week.

The chief executive has no announced engagements at the White House in Washington before Dec. 16, when Prime Minister Nehru of India is scheduled to arrive for a four-day visit.

Mr. Eisenhower originally planned legislative meetings in Washington Dec. 13-14, but the White House said these will be put off at least until after Dec. 20 and possibly until after Christmas.

Westbrook Offered
New Post in Carpentier Office

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — W. B. Westbrook of Harrisburg, Ill., discharged last week, effective Jan. 1, from the post as head of the automobile department in the office of Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, has been offered a new post under Carpenter, reportedly in the automobile title division.

It was learned that Westbrook will have until Jan. 1 to make up his mind as to whether he wants the post.

Named automobile department chief in place of Westbrook was C. E. Nelson, East Moline, who will take over the first of the year.

Nelson will vacate the post of chief automobile investigator and it was reliably learned that Warren L. Montgomery of Fairfield will be appointed chief automobile investigator.

Montgomery presently is supervisor of automobile investigators for 18 southernmost Illinois counties (including Saline). He was named an investigator in 1953 and supervisor the same year.

Carrier Mills Firemen Battle Weed Blaze To Save New Fire Truck

Carrier Mills firemen and others battled successfully yesterday afternoon to prevent a weed fire from burning up the new Carrier Mills fire truck.

The truck was called to extinguish a weed fire near the West End housing project and the clutch burned out, putting the apparatus out of operation.

The old fire truck was called to the blaze and the fire fighters battled to keep the blaze from reaching the disabled truck.

The old truck extinguished the blaze.

SIU Student Dies in Fire

NEW DENNISON, Ill. (AP) — A youth identified as a college student perished Saturday in a fire that swept a farm home he rented at New Dennison, Ill.

Williamson County Coroner Adolph Fluck identified the victim as 24-year-old Clair Mark Ehrhardt of Park Forest, Ill. The coroner said that the blaze might have been caused by a faulty oil heating stove.

The house was completely destroyed and Ehrhardt's body was found in the basement.

A spokesman at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale said Ehrhardt was enrolled in a radio and television course at the university's vocational-technical institute.

Police to Ban Boys Under 16 from Pool Rooms

Chief of Police Ross Lane today announced he was "starting war" on the frequenting of boys under 16 years of age in pool rooms.

Lane said that during his investigation of the recent ransackings—revealed last week—it came out that boys 12 and 13 years old were going into pool rooms.

He said he learned from parents that money given the lads for school lunches and for movies were being spent in the pool rooms.

The law prohibits youths under 16 years of age from frequenting pool rooms and he said he was going to see that this law is enforced.

Burglars Take $1500 Loot from Stonefort Store

The Thornton hardware store at Stonefort was burglarized Friday night of a big loot which Earl Thornton, proprietor, estimated to total $1,500 in value to Sheriff William T. Barrett.

Barrett, who with Deputies Everett N. Sneed and Charles Donelson investigated the break-in Thursday, said a crow-bar was used to pull a lock off a front door. The articles were taken out the back door.

Missing were toasters, mixers, portable oil heaters, flashlights, radios, razors, electric irons, clocks, wrenches, saws, braces and bits, rulers, hatchets, hammers, files, planes and other items.

Barrett said it was possible for the thieves to haul off the loot in a pleasure car.

Dulles Resumes Direction of U. S. Foreign Policy; 3 Major Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, recovered from his recent operation, today resumed active direction of U. S. foreign policy.

The secretary returned to his desk after a one-month's absence convinced that "prospects of peace in the Middle East are now reasonably good."

Before him were three major long-range problems:

—How to bring about a permanent peace settlement in the Middle East that will restore freedom of passage in the Suez Canal, guarantee Israel's security, stabilize the Arab states and block Russian infiltration into the area.

Must Re-Cement Alliance

—How to re-cement the alliance with Britain and France that began cracking with the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt. The United States took a major step in this direction Saturday when it put into effect an emergency plan to get 500,000 barrels of oil a day to oil-starved Western Europe.

Before taking up his duties again, Dulles conferred for two hours Sunday with President Eisenhower at the vacation White House at Augusta, Ga.

The secretary stopped in Augusta on a return flight to Washington from Key West, Fla., where he had convalesced from the operation he underwent one month

Hope to Spend Christmas at Their Homes

Carbondale Ex-GI Wants Parents to Send Plane Money

HONG KONG — Two homesick American turncoats who spent more than three years in Communist China said today they hope to spend Christmas in the homeland they forsook for Communism.

Arlie Pate, 26, of Carbondale, Ill., and Aaron Wilson, 23, Urania, La., walked out of Red China Sunday, accompanied by Chinese Red Cross officials. They defected to the Chinese Communists while serving with the U. S. Army in Korea in 1953.

"I'm homesick," the talkative Pate told newsmen. "My brother died not too long ago, and it made me homesick. My family is having a hard time. I want a peaceful life. I want to be reunited with my family."

Wilson was less talkative, but he also admitted he was homesick. "China is not my home," he said glumly.

But Pate said later he won't make it home in time for the Yuletide season unless his mother sends money for a plane ticket right away.

Book Plane Passage

"Wilson's folks wired Northwest Airlines promising to pay for his ticket home," Pate said. "I hope my mother will put up the money, too. Otherwise, I'll have to go by boat and you know how long that takes—30 long days."

Lacking other means, the U. S. State Department will loan Pate money for freighter passage, which is normal procedure for distressed Americans abroad.

Both men tentatively booked passage aboard a Northwest Airlines plane for Wednesday, but neither was positive about his departure. The American Red Cross gave each of them $35 to help meet expenses.

Their return from behind the Bamboo Curtain left 14 former American soldiers still in Communist China. Some have married Chinese girls, and at least one has married a Russian.

The original group of American GI's who chose Communism after the Korea war totaled 23. Since then, six have returned to the United States and one has died in Red China. Twenty-one, including Pate and Wilson, have been dishonorably discharged from the U. S. armed forces, which automatically rules out military jurisdiction over those who return. Still Citizens of U. S.

Pate and Wilson, wearing cheap, Chinese-made Western style blue suits, appeared thin but well when they arrived in Hong Kong Sunday.

They were held in police custody for a short time and were released after an interview with

Parents of Arlie Pate Plan Christmas Homecoming Banquet for Turncoat Son

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — The parents of Arlie Pate, 25, ex-GI turncoat who quit Red China, today planned a Christmas homecoming banquet for their son's favorite dishes.

Arlie and a fellow turncoat, Aaron Wilson, 23, Urania, La., arrived in Hong Kong from behind the Bamboo Curtain Sunday on the first leg of their homeward journey.

Mrs. Dan Pate busily prepared her son's favorite dishes head-cheese, bacon and ham.

The Pates live on a hilly 78-acre farm which Arlie urged his parents to buy. He enlisted in the Army before his father decided to purchase the farm.

Also anxious for Arlie's return is his 11-year-old brother, Harold, who has no recollection of the ex-GI. A twin brother drowned while Arlie was in China.

The aPates said they have received several letters from their son recently, but refused to discuss their contents.

The Pates said they have re-

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Lyndon Johnson Gets Setback
From Democratic Leaders; Liberals Call For Quick Action On Legislative Program.

WASHINGTON. — After the Democratic decision to press for a liberal legislative program party chairman Paul Butler telephoned Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson with the news.

It was a polite way of telling Johnson that he wasn't running the Democratic party. Butler reported that the Executive committee had voted unanimously to seek speedy action on a "liberal and enlightened" program. This was exactly opposite to the don't-rock-the-boat policy Johnson himself had announced.

"You are splitting the Democratic party to pieces!" Johnson exploded over the phone. It was a mistake, he warned angrily, to come out with a Democratic program ahead of President Eisenhower's legislative recommendations. The tall Texan also wanted to know who was responsible for challenging his leadership.

"Who introduced the resolution?" he demanded.
"Paul Ziffren," replied Butler, referring to California's national committeeman. Johnson muttered something about reading Ziffren's views in the paper.

After Johnson cooled down, Butler calmly invited him to join the 17-member committee that will "coordinate and advance" the liberal program. Johnson grudgingly replied it was all right with him, but he would have to talk to House Speaker Sam Rayburn first.

The Executive committee's action, represents a triumph for the northern liberals over the Southern Conservatives. Both wings have been battling backstage to determine which should flap the Democratic party.

HARMONIOUS LYNDON

As the southerners' fair-haired boy, Johnson is striving to upset no apple carts. In the name of Democratic unity, he had persuaded northern Democrats not to agitate for civil rights and other liberal legislation. For four years he had argued this would antagonize the south. He had also been the chief architect of a don't-criticize-the-President policy, on the theory Ike was too popular to tangle with.

Johnson's policies, however,
didn't win any votes in the south.
In fact, he lost his own state of Texas to Eisenhower. As a result, liberal senators felt they had been led down the garden path by the soft-soaping Texan.

They have now come out for a militant, 16-point program in outright defiance of Johnson's leadership. The Executive committee clearly sided with the liberals against Johnson.

The committee's action ran up against only token opposition during the closed-door sessions this week. The resolution, calling for speedy action on a liberal program, was introduced by Ziffren and backed by two big-city leaders —Mayor Dave Lawrence of Pittsburgh and Col. Jake Arvey of Chicago.

Louisiana National Committeeman Camille Gravel, Jr., speaking for the south, protested that Ziffren's resolution would do what the Democratic convention had refused to do. He referred to the fact that the convention had turned down a minority proposal, calling for "implementation" of the Democratic platform civil rights pledges.

Gravel acknowledged, however, that Ziffren's resolution was both
"legal and logical." In the end, he voted reluctantly for it.

The Executive committee also decided to meet with the 17-member advisory committee Jan. 4 to lay down a legislative program. This means the Democrats will come out with their program before Ike's state of the union recommendations — another slap at Johnson's wait-for-the-President policy.

In short, the Executive committee took every possible step to head off Johnson from taking over leadership of the Democratic party.

DEMOCRATIC GO-ROUND

Backstage With The Democrats:
Two backstage moves to oust Democratic Chairman Paul Butler didn't even get inside the door at the Executive committee meeting . . . Pittsburgh's Mayor Dave Lawrence wanted to replace Butler with Adlai Stevenson's campaign manager, Jim Finne-gan. This was spiked by Finne-gan himself, who refused to run for the job . . . Senate Leader Johnson was supporting two candidates—Kentucky's defeated Sen.
Earle Clements or ex-FDR Aide
Jim Rowe. Johnson sounded out Democratic bigwigs about both men . . . But the Executive committee unanimously endorsed Butler.

The Democrats will appeal to the "little people" for contributions to pay their campaign debts.
Adlai Stevenson will send letters to a list of 125,000 small contributors, asking for help in making up the campaign deficit . . . It cost the Democratic National committee $50,000 to draw up the list during the campaign. The first appeal for funds, however, brought in $200,000 . . . The Executive committee also decided to hold an annual "Dollars for Democrats" day . . . Mayor Lawrence suggested setting up a separate corporation to publish the Democratic party's monthly magazine, the Democratic Digest. His suggestion was turned down, however, on the grounds that the party might lose control over the magazine.

One Case Remains On Docket of County Court

The December term of Saline county court apparently will be a short one as there was only one case remaining on the docket that must be disposed of.

It is a la-suit, Day Transfer Co. vs. the William Glascock estate, resulting from the collision that took the life of Dr. Glascock. It is set to be heard before a jury Monday, Dec. 10.

All other cases, both jury and non-jury have either been heard, settled or continued.

This morning Judge C. Ross Reynolds heard two default divorce matters and granted the divorces. They were: Doris Hudes from Irving Hudes and Woodford Taborn from Tempy Taborn.

The December grand jury convened for about 45 minutes, then recessed until Oct. 12. The September grand jury, which returned 11 indictments, also returned one no true bill, which cleared Bill Malone of an arson charge resulting from the burning of a barn on the Robert Bridwell farm.

Williamson GOP Endorses Circuit Court Candidates

MARION, Ill. — The Williamson County Republican Central Committee in a meeting at the court house in Marion Saturday selected delegates to the Supreme Court nominating convention Dec. 15 and endorsed Circuit Court candidates to be nominated in 1957.

One resolution passed by the committee designated Circuit Judge H. L. Zimmerman of Marion as Williamson County's candidate for re-nomination in the Circuit Court convention to be held next March. Another resolution pledged the county committee's support to Circuit Judges Clarence E. Wright of Carbondale and C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna.

Three judicial candidates are to be nominated at the Circuit Court convention for the election June 3.

The Mt. Vernon convention will nominate a candidate for the Supreme Court vacancy created by the death of Justice Ralph Maxwell. The vacancy will be filled at a special election in February.

Mitchell Raps Mayor Daley as Democratic Boss

CHICAGO (AP) — A new Democratic factional battle touched off by Stephen A. Mitchell, was brewing today in the wake of the party's setback in the state in the November election.

Mitchell, a Chicago attorney and former Democratic national chairman, brought the struggle into the open with an attack on Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley as a one-man boss of the Illinois party.

Speaking on a local television program, Mitchell said at least five other Democrats could have made a better showing against Gov. William G. Stratton than did Daley's candidate, Judge Richard C. Austin.

He listed the others as Cook County Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman, U. S. Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr., Probate Court Judge Robert Jerome Dunne and Cook County School Supt. Noble J. Puffer.

Mitchell, who sought the gubernatorial nomination last year, excluded himself from the list. He said he had sent Daley a long letter detailing his criticisms and it was up to Daley to release its contents.

"The Cook County committee dominates the entire party in the state," Mitchell continued. "This is not healthy."

Mitchell also criticized State Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna) an outspoken foe of the Cook County party organization.

"I believe he is resented by the rank and file of downstate Democrats as their spokesman," Mitchell said.

Villagers Rally Behind Banker

ELLENVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — This Catskill Mountains hamlet rallied today to the aid of a 51-year-old banker who admitted manipulating $564,055 in bank funds to help community businesses.

William R. Rose, resigned president of the Home National Bank, was arrested by the FBI and released in $25,000 bail Saturday.

The G-men said Rose juggled bank accounts to help merchants who needed to build up capital. He allegedly falsified records to credit a depositor with funds belonging to someone else and paid checks drawn on another depositor when there were insufficient funds in the account to cover checks.

But the townspeople say the charge is merely a technical matter. The wealthy bachelor who lived with his 84-year-old mother was just being "a neighborhood country banker," they said.

The villagers showed their faith Sunday night when 200 civic religious and business leaders met with Mayor Eugene Glusker to draft a letter to express their faith and confidence in Rose.

Several trips were made to the farm by various combinations of the four, and stolen, Barrett said, were gasoline, batteries and a wrench.

Kills Estranged Wife, Wounds Daughter, Then Attempts Suicide

CHICAGO (AP) — A stevedore who killed his estranged wife and wounded their daughter was in critical condition today after attempting suicide.

Police said William Wendt, 42, Oak Park, shot himself in the chest Saturday night after slaying his wife, Thelma, 40, and wounding his daughter, Nancy, 14.

The girl was reported in fair condition at St. Joseph hospital.

She told authorities an argument developed when Wendt visited her mother Saturday night.

FHA Increases Interest Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government Saturday raised the interest rate on FHA-insured home loans from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent.

The Veterans Administration also announced it may ask Congress next year to raise the rate on VA-insured "GI" home loans, now pegged by law at 4 1/2 per cent.

Federal housing administrator Albert M. Cole said the increase will help home-buyers "get the financing they need" in today's tight money market. Lenders lately have displayed reluctance to invest money in FHA mortgages at 4 1/2 per cent when higher returns are available on other types of loans.

The action also was designed to stimulate the slumping house-building industry, Cole said.

The increase is effective Tuesday. It does not affect mortgage loans already insured under the old ceiling. But FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason said the new rates may be made effective for mortgage applications now in process, if the lender requests it.

In addition to the basic 5 per cent interest rate borrowers who get FHA insurance on their loans still must pay a premium of 1/2 per cent, as always. That makes the total new rate 5 1/2 per cent.

The FHA also increased interest rates on insured loans for apartment housing from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent, and on urban renewal and rehabilitation projects from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent. On both types of loans an additional insurance premium of 1/2 per cent is charged.

All other FHA mortgage terms remain unchanged.

Find Stolen Briefcase

Two men who spied a brief case in water alongside Route 13 east of Harrisburg recovered it and brought it to Sheriff William T. Barrett, who opened it and learned it belonged to Ulysses Sutton of 706 West Elm street.

The briefcase contained a Bible, religious tracts and a pencil.

Sutton told Barrett that the briefcase, a flashlight, raincoat and a leather bill fold were stolen from his car parked uptown in Harrisburg a week ago Saturday.

Illinois Celebrates 138th Anniversary

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois celebrated its 138th anniversary today.

It was on Dec. 3, 1818, that Illinois was admitted to the Union as the 21st state. On that date, the state constitution drawn up by 33 delegates from 15 counties in the Illinois Territory was approved by the United States Congress.

As an infant state, Illinois boasted a population of 40,000 in its 55,935 square miles. In 1950, federal census takers counted 8,712,176 residents.

U. S. Consul Sverre Backe, who later announced the two men are still citizens of the United States.

The former soldier took a room in a third-rate hotel, where they held a news conference. They told newsmen they worked in a paper mill in Tsinan Shantung province, where their monthly pay as apprentices was $16. The Chinese Red Cross gave them an additional $20 a month, which they said helped them meet bare living expenses. They worked eight hours a day, six days a week.

"We had a pretty good time," Pate said. "We had sports after working hours and often went to Chinese dance halls to dance with Chinese girls."

They said they were never used for propaganda purposes by Red China and that they did nothing to advance the cause of communism. They said no one objected when they decided to leave China.

"We never wrote anything and we never said nothing," said Pate, who quit high school before graduation because he was "unhappy in school."

They attended a movie Sunday night in the company of United Press correspondent Peter Sum, ignoring several more serious movies in favor of a Perez Prado musical, "Cha Cha Cha Boom."

Both Pate and Wilson ate two bags of popcorn during the first five minutes of the show.

Britain, France To Withdraw Troops Shortly

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced today Britain and France will withdraw troops from Egypt "in a short time." He urged Israel to order a similar evacuation of the conquered Gaza Strip.

Lloyd hinted, however, that Anglo-French salvage ships clearing the Suez Canal may remain on the scene after the occupation troops have left.

Lloyd told Parliament that the precise date for the withdrawal of Anglo-French troops from the Suez Canal Zone will be worked out by British Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, the Anglo-French supreme commander, and Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the United Nations "police."

In New York, U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld said he has ordered Burns' forces to be ready to take complete control of Port Said "by the middle of the month."

A French official said earlier today the evacuation of the canal zone "probably" will be completed by Christmas.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, in a statement to the National Assembly paralleling Lloyd's remarks in Parliament, said Anglo-French forces will be withdrawn "forthwith" — as demanded by the U. N.

As for the Gaza Strip, Lloyd said Britain believes Israel should evacuate it and let the U. N. take over, specifically for the purpose of solving the long-standing Arab refugee problem.

Lloyd's 20-minute statement was interrupted continually by shouts and jeers from the benches occupied by the opposition Laborites, who have opposed the Anglo-French attack on Egypt from the start.

Son Shoots Mother, Dumps Body in Snow

BROOKVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A high school senior who shot and killed his mother and dumped her body in a snow-covered woods told police today "she scolded me."

Apparently unremorseful, Samuel T. Lavella, 16, of Crenshaw, Pa., reenacted the events of Saturday night in which, in a moment of rage, the bright, popular student became a calculating slayer.

He admitted to Jefferson County Dist. Atty. William J. McKnight he shot his mother, Melinda, 38, borrowed the keys to the family station wagon by explaining to his father "Mom wants to go somewhere," and dropped the body down an isolated road embankment.

He returned home, burned his mother's blood-stained clothing and later told his worried father "Mom went out again."

Mrs. Lavella's body was discovered Sunday by a hunter.

Samuel was charged with the murder Sunday night before Justice of the Peace Homer D. Small. He remained silent except to say "Guilty" when asked to enter his plea.

Samuel told police his mother had returned home Saturday evening from the tavern the family runs across the street from their residence. He was in the basement cleaning a rifle. Mrs. Lavella scolded him for handling the weapon without his father's permission.

"She made me mad," Samuel said. "I picked up my other gun and shot her."

U. P. Writer Is Ordered Out of Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP)—United Press staff correspondent Russell Jones, who was ordered Saturday to get out of Hungary by midnight tonight, was notified today he may remain until Sunday—but no longer. Jones is the only American newsmen in Budapest.

Defense Minister Ferenc Muenich, to whom Jones had appealed for permission to remain in Hungary, told him the six-day extension of his temporary visa is all he can expect.

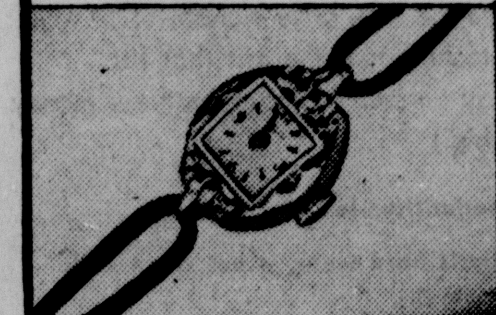

Jones entered Hungary Oct. 29 without any visa, but later got permission from the ill-fated government of ex-Premier Imre Nagy to remain in the country for one month.

That authorization expired Friday, and the following day Jones was notified he would have to get out of Hungary by tonight.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

Tradition is a strange thing. As moderns we do not want to be tied to the past. Yet, day by day we act in accord with the way our ancestors acted. There was much of value in yesterday. We translate past practice into current action.

Much of yesterday is as new as the morning. We must constantly determine the portion of tradition which meets the needs of the present. Everyone must meet today's situations with up-to-date procedures. And this may be based on tradition or a new approach.

God stands up under the acid test of both tradition and the new. He has yet to be outdated. He is way ahead of human thought and mortal need. We must apply the Eternal to the present.

Starrett finished talking and Bruhn leaned back in his chair. His thick lips were pursed and he studied Starrett, the gray eyes expressionless. Then he leaned forward and spoke briefly, so low that Dan could not catch the words. Starrett's face fell, but the eagerness immediately returned. He talked fast, one long finger stabbing at the table. Bruhn shook his head and stood up. His voice carried clearly now.

"When I decide, I'll let you know." He walked away, leaving Starrett sitting alone, biting at his lower lip. Bruhn walked to Darrow's table and sat down. Darrow looked curiously from him to Starrett and back to Bruhn but he said nothing as Bruhn helped himself to a drink from the bottle on the table.

Suddenly Starrett's lips thinned and his pale eyes flashed. With an impatient gesture he arose, then checked himself and walked more sedately to the door.

By the time Starrett had opened the door and stepped outside, Dan was on his heels. The wind was stronger now, a cold knife that began to slice at the town, but Dan didn't notice. Starrett reached the porch steps but turned when he heard Dan.

"I said you were finished, Dan. That's final."

Dan came up to him. "Finished working for Star, maybe, but not with you." He jerked his head back toward the door. "You're making a deal with Bruhn." Starrett shrugged. "What's it mean to you, since you don't draw my pay?"

"Plenty, Blaise." Dan's lips curled. "You'd turn mad dogs loose on the town to get your way. You're no better than a killer and outlaw yourself!"

Starrett's nostrils pinched, a little white moon of color showing around the base of his nose. He didn't see the blow coming. He had half turned his head to look angrily at the distant mountain peaks. Starrett's fist caught him on the jaw just back of the chin. The force of it snapped his head back and there was a flash of light before his eyes. He landed in mud and water that spread along his body and one side of his face. He gulped water and momentarily fought for breath.

"That's a sample, Dan," a voice said at a long distance, "of what you'll get if you stick into my business."

Dan pushed himself up and Starrett stepped back, confident that the single blow had ended the fight. Dan was plastered with cold, brown mud all along one side. His face was stained with it along one cheek and his hands were filthy.

He lunged forward without warning and his fist smashed into Starrett's face. The man fell backward, his shoulders slamming into the edge of the high saloon porch. Dan plunged after him but his foot slipped in the mud and he went down to one knee.

Starrett gave him no chance. He charged Dan, who tried to lift himself out of the mud to meet the attack. Starrett bore down and his knee lifted in a short, vicious blow designed to catch Dan in the face while he was still bent over. Dan jerked aside, the knee grazed by his shoulder and Starrett, unable to check himself, was swung half around in the muddy footing, arms flailing for balance.

The saloon doors burst open and the outlaws streamed out.

Dan looked hardly human, his clothes and fists muddy, his face smeared. Now both men advanced cautiously, circling, waiting for an opening.

"Which'll you take, Juarez?" Tex called from the porch.

"The tall, clean one," Juarez laughed.

"Then give me odds," Tex demanded. Denver chuckled.

"Dunno about that. Mud or no, that Murdock gent looks good to me."

Across the street Paula had been standing at the window in the lumber yard office when the two men first came out on the porch. Then her eyes had snapped wide when she saw the blow that sent Dan off the porch and into the mud. "Not Dan and Blaise!" She raced for her coat, and slogged, stumbling, across the street.

She could only watch, fearful, hardly recognizing either man through the coating of mud. Then she saw Vivian McLearn hurry up and Paula suddenly wished that she had not come.

Dan came whipping in, checked as Starrett came to meet him, and faded to one side.

He couldn't get in a solid blow that would end the fight, for Starrett's guard was still quick and good. He came in close as Starrett's arm dropped.

Starrett suddenly twisted about, his knee coming up in a savage blow that landed true. A shock of pain swept through Dan and it seemed that his stomach came up in his throat. He bent double and Starrett's fist traveled upward in a short piston blow that cracked his knuckles off Dan's chin.

Dan didn't hear it. His consciousness swirled away in a flash of light and pain.

Paula hesitated and then Vivian suddenly stepped in front of her. She knelt in the mud and lifted Dan's head, started wiping the mud from his face. Phil wheeled around and strode to Starrett.

His voice was like a whip. "I never thought you and Dan would ever fight, no matter what the reason. I never figured you to be a man who wins by a foul."

Lakers Tounce Warriors, 106-96

Because of revolts in the cellar, Minneapolis replaced Fort Wayne at the third rung in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association standings today and last-place Syracuse in the Eastern Division was only two points behind New York.

The Lakers had seven men scoring in two figures as they tounced Philadelphia, 106-96, Sunday although the Warriors made 26 of 27 free throws.

The Syracuse Nationals broke a six-game losing streak with a 110-100 win over New York as Ed Conlin registered 28 points and Dolph Schayes 26. It was the Nats' first victory under Coach Paul Seymour.

Those two games were the only ones scheduled.

Local Players Sparkle in First Half, Bog Down As Eagles Cut Margin

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, who sparkled in the first half of their contest at Davenport gym Saturday night against Eldorado, bogged the last half and almost lost the game before they revived to win 65 to 57.

The first half was really something for the local fans as the Bull Dogs, with a pressing defense that took the ball away from Eldorado countless times and a fast-breaking offense that was clicking pretty well, took a commanding lead.

But teamwork went out the window after the start of the third quarter and Eldorado began cutting into the lead.

Harrisburg doubled the count the first quarter, running up a 16 to 8 lead the first quarter as the boys put on a fast break to the basket, and if they had been hitting their drive-ins the lead would have been much bigger.

Lead 34-20 at Half
In the meantime Eldorado was getting few shots because the pressing defense of Harrisburg was taking the ball away from Eldorado players.

The superiority continued the second half, with Harrisburg out-scoring Eldorado, 18 to 12, to take a 34-20 halftime lead.

The Eagles did not quit, however, and during the mid-part of the third period rolled up 12 points, from 38 to 25 to 49 to 37, while Harrisburg was making but a single field goal. Kingery made eight of the 12. Eldorado out-scored Harrisburg in the period, 21 to 11.

Moments before the quarter ended Eldorado narrowed the margin to 43-41, but at the end of the period the locals led 45-41.

At the outset of the last frame Eldorado scored first to again cut the lead to two points at 45-43, but the locals began gradually extending the margin again until they were ahead 11 points, 65 to 54, with a minute to play. Eldorado made the last three points.

Globetrotter Boss Picks Seven Greatest Players He Has Seen

The talk at the lunch table got around to the subject of the greatest basketball players of alltime, as it was wont to do with Abe Saperstein, boss man of the Harlem Globetrotters, who play the Philadelphia Sphas at Davenport gymnasium in Harrisburg Thursday, Dec. 13, one of the diners.

Some one put the question to Saperstein: "Outside of your Globetrotter stars, who are the best players you have ever seen in action?"

Abe thought a few moments as he parried the chopped liver with his fork, then replied:

"That's a difficult task as I've seen so many wonderful players... but," taking out a fountain pen and using the back of the menu, "let's do it this way... supposing I jot them down as a team, selecting one center, three forwards and three guards... seven men in all."

Everyone present thought that would do just fine and Abe went to work, musing aloud as he made his selections:

"For center, in the pivot, there is only one man, big George Mikan. He had more maneuverability than any big man I have ever seen."

"At the forwards, without question the one and only Nat Holman in his heyday with the New York Celtics. And who can forget Hank Luisetti of Stanford, working out of the corners, feinting, driving and shooting? And for the third forward the great Chuck Hyatt of the University of Pittsburgh, who was player of the year in 1930 and helped Doc Carlson's Pitt team win two national titles."

"The guards? For one, Bobby McDermott, probably the greatest long shot basketball has ever known. Here's a guy who could shoot straight as an arrow from 30 to 40 feet out. He led the Fort Wayne Zollners to world championships and he previously starred Willis of Eldorado was the game's high scorer with 18 points. Fulkerson with 16 was high for Harrisburg. Both teams had 20 fouls called against them.

The Bull Pups took the preliminary, too, winning 47 to 45. Eldorado led 9-7 at the quarter but Harrisburg was ahead 19-16 at the half and 34-31 at the end of the third period.

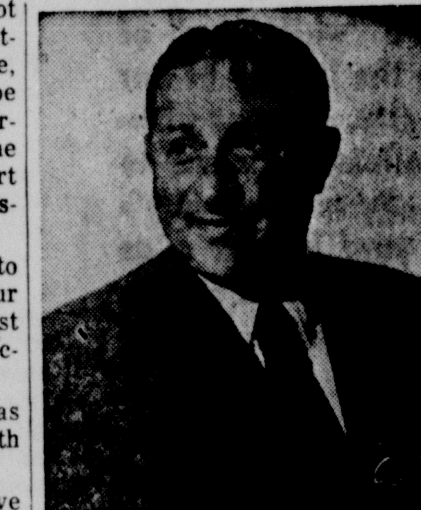

The scoring: For Harrisburg — Maynard 15, Kane 9, Pavelonis 6, Pickford 6, Stone 6, Wasson 5, with Stricklin and Beal also seeing action. For Eldorado—Fowler 18, McMahon 10, Allen 8, Baugher 7, Miller 2 with Williams, Neal, McAllister and Davis also playing.

This week Harrisburg will have two home games, meeting Marion here in a South Seven conference game Friday and entertaining unbeaten Carrier Mills Saturday night.

with the Celtics. I'll never forget John ("Cat") Thompson, the Montana State College star who I believe is the only man to be named All-American for four straight years. "Cat" was player of the year '29 when Montana won the national championship. That club averaged 60 points and that was 1929!"

"I'll have to go for one of the present day players as my other guard... brilliant Bob Cousy, the great playmaker from Holy Cross and now with the Boston Celtics. No doubt of his being an all-time great."

The task completed, Saperstein looked around the table with a twinkle in his eye: "I'm glad you exempted my picking any of the Globetrotters. I'd have heard by telegraph, mail and telephone from several hundred of them if I didn't mention any of them."

Tickets for the Globe Trotters appearance in Harrisburg are $2 for reserved seats, $1.50 general admission and 90 cents for students if purchased in advance.

Tickets may be purchased at Huck's Barbershop, Karnes Hardware or Jackson's Drug store in Harrisburg and Walker's Jewelry in Carrier Mills.

Aussie Team Wins 800-Meter Swimming Event

Pat McCormick Leads Qualifiers in Springboard Diving

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor
MELBOURNE, 19—Australia's crack 800-meter relay swimming team whipped the U. S. by a solid 20 yards in the only Olympic championship decided tonight, but Pat McCormick of Lakewood, Calif., headed for the third gold medal of her career by rushing into the lead after six rounds in springboard diving.

A smashing anchor leg by Jon Hendricks, handsome 21-year old Olympic 100-meter freestyle champion, gave the Aussies a new world record of 8:23.6. Only four yards ahead of Ford Konno of Honolulu when he started his final leg, Hendricks splashed ahead so quickly he left Konno as if he were treading water.

The U. S. was second by five yards over Russia with Japan a fast-closing fourth.

Mrs. McCormick, a 26-year old housewife who won two gold medals in the 1952 Olympics, easily led the 12 qualifiers for Tuesday night's springboard final. U. S. hopes soared for a big haul of points when other American girls placed third and fourth in the standings after the first six dives. Mrs. McCormick seeks a first.

Mrs. McCormick, hoping to become the first in history to win both Olympic dives two consecutive times, scored a total of 76.80 points for a comfortable lead over Irene McDonald of Canada who had 73.25.

Barbara Sue Gilders, a pretty blonde from Detroit, was third in the first phase of the diving with 71.47 points and Jeanne Stunyo of Gary, Ind., was fourth with 71.02.

In one other standout performance, Shelly Mann of Arlington, Va., set a new Olympic record of 1:11.2 in the women's 100-meter butterfly trials. The butterfly is a new event in Olympic competition.

The Australians, as expected, dominated the 800-meter men's freestyle relay from the start.

Opening with 19-year old Kevin O'Halloran, the husky Aussies followed in this order—Rocky Devitt, 17-year old Murray Rose and then flashy Hendricks.

Their time of 8:23.6 bettered the previous record of 8:24.5 set by Russia last month. It broke the Olympic standard of 8:31.1 set by the U. S. in the 1952 games.

U. S. Gains One Point
The second place finish for the U. S. was good for five points but Russia picked up four for third. Hence the Americans gained only one slim point in the race for the unofficial team championship and now lead Russia, 468 to 394 1-2.

It was a comparatively quiet day on most Olympic fronts after Saturday's hectic session during which 36 gold medals were awarded.

Americans made some advances but had scant hopes for many medals in yachting, cycling, Greco-Roman wrestling, shooting or gymnastics. The Russians have a high point potential in most of those events.

Tennessee-Baylor Tilt Expected to Be Closest Of Bowl Football Games

By United Press
According to the wizards of odds the Tennessee-Baylor meeting in the Sugar Bowl and the Clemson-Colorado head-knocking in the Orange Bowl will be the closest-fought games among the major classics.

Both contests were pegged as "pick 'em" even-money affairs to be the final prizes released by the Minneapolis odds-makers.

The point spreads on the other major games favored Iowa by 6-1-2 over Oregon State in the Rose Bowl, Texas Christian seven over Syracuse in the Cotton Bowl, and Georgia Tech 6-1-2 over Pittsburgh in the Gator Bowl.

The bowl pairings were completed during the weekend and, with one exception, produced no surprises.

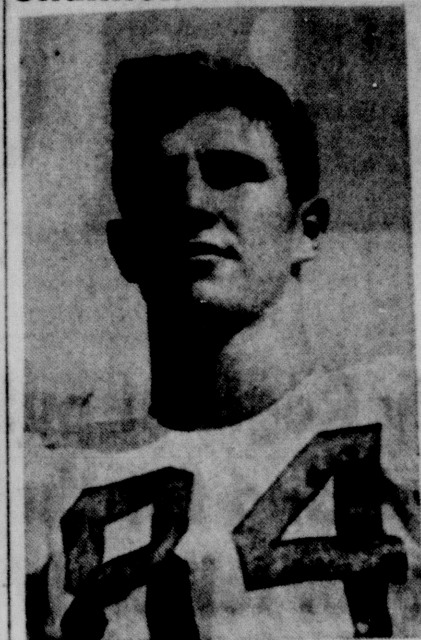

Navy was considered Texas Christian's likely opponent in the Cotton Bowl. But following their disappointing 7-7 tie against Army Rear Admiral W. R. Smedberg, superintendent of the Naval Academy, turned down the bid because "of our record." Navy wound up with a 6-1-2 record.

Following the Middies' refusal, Syracuse was offered the Cotton Bowl berth and quickly accepted. The Orange, led by All-America half back Jimmy Brown, completed its regular season with a 7-1 record but may be overmatched against TCU which cruised to a season-ending 21-6 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday.

Tennessee, as expected, was awarded a Sugar Bowl berth after completing a perfect-record season by mauling Vanderbilt, 27-7. Bay-

Rushing Named 1957 SIU Grid Captain; Shannon Voted Most Valuable Player

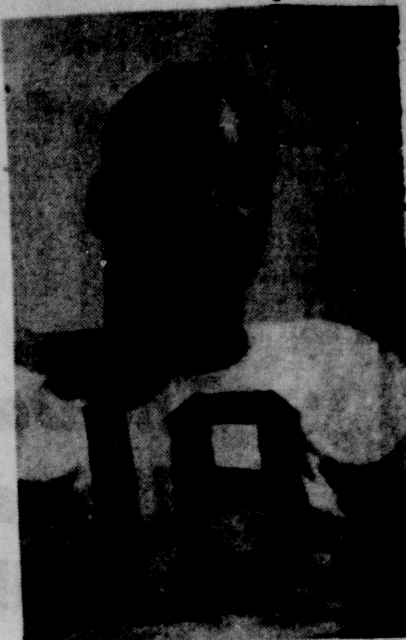

Marion Rushing

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Marion Rushing, junior from Pinckneyville, has been named 1957 football captain at Southern Illinois University and sophomore halfback Carver Shannon, Corinth, Miss., has been picked by his teammates as the most valuable player of the past season.

Rushing, who is also a regular in basketball and track, was chosen as SIU's most valuable all-around athlete when he was a sophomore. Football coach Al Kawa says Rushing is the most versatile player on the squad and gives all the effort a coach could ask. Last year he played guard and center and this year switched to end.

"He's willing to tackle any job for the good of the team," Kawa said.

Carver Shannon

Last year Rushing was a guard on the second team All-Conference squad and is a highly regarded bet for the 1956 Interstate All-Conference selections to be made in Chicago Dec. 7.

Shannon, who was bothered during the last part of the season by injuries, scored 90 points in eight games to set a new SIU scoring mark. He gained 694 yards in 30 carries for an average of seven yards a try to break the school record for total rushing.

He was Southern's leading extra point kicker and also a defensive standout. Shannon, who is only 18, is 6-0 and weighs 180. Rushing, who played high school ball at Pinckneyville, is a forward on the SIU cage team and a javelin thrower in track.

ROUTE 13

The Daily Register published an article Oct. 24, 1956 in which Mayor Claud Gibbons and the City Council were asking for the public opinion on the question of retaining State Route 13 on Poplar Street or the possibility of relocating it to by-pass Harrisburg. In the meantime, there has been so much discussion with many rumors growing from it that we cannot evaluate the true facts. Let's face the original issue:

WE DON'T WANT HARRISBURG BY-PASSED

Within the past six weeks petitions containing 1080 names of Harrisburg trading area citizens have been presented to Mayor Claud Gibbons and the City Council favoring retaining the present route of State Route 13 through the City of Harrisburg. We know there are many people who did not have an opportunity to sign one of these petitions who are of the same opinion.

WHAT ROUTE 13 MEANS TO HARRISBURG

Arguments can be marshalled on both sides. We do not question the sincerity and earnestness of persons in this discussion, but believe there are some salient facts which should be well considered. Heretofore, it has been the custom of the State and Federal Governments to spend many thousands of dollars on similar projects. This project calls for widening and resurfacing of Poplar Street with a lighting system to be installed that will make a "white way" of one of our main thoroughfares. This would not only add to the beauty of our city but actually would increase property values all over the city. It goes without saying that any improvement to a city invariably adds dollars and cents to the value of ALL the property in the city. The streets of a city are that city's front yard and, just as the manner in which your own front yard is kept adds to or detracts from the value of your property, so the manner in which streets are kept in the city adds to or detracts from the value of the real estate of that city.

We well recall that at the time East Poplar Street was improved by widening and resurfacing, there was some dissension to this improvement but how many would now wish to restore it to its former condition?

The work on Poplar Street will be blueprinted by State and Federal engineers who are all career men and who do not have any 'ax to grind' and the safety of both motor vehicle traffic and pedestrians is given first consideration in their plans.

It is a well known fact that cities as well as individuals cannot stand still; they must either grow or decline. An attractive city is more likely to attract new businesses and industry than an unattractive city. Every improvement in a city excites a healthy growth, and failure to improve invites decline. We are justly proud of our fine schools, we are proud of our many beautiful churches, we are proud of our merchants and the complete lines of merchandise they offer for a city of this size, and we are proud of our local industries and the employment they give our people. Our civic pride should compel us to obtain streets and highways comparable to our other assets.

We do not believe that traffic will be increased by the widening of Poplar Street alone, but it will facilitate handling the normal trend of increased traffic. We might add that an increase in traffic would be desirable, as the trade potential would be increased in ratio to the increase in traffic.

It has been suggested by a few that the widening of Poplar Street will make it a more dangerous crossing for school children. We do not understand this to be the fact, as the same school stop lights will continue to be used and the same system of school patrols will continue, the speed limit will not be increased and motor vehicles will still be required to come to a dead stop when the school light is flashing.

With the completion of the improvements on Poplar Street the State will assume its maintenance. Should Route 13 be relocated the city must reassume the total maintenance of Poplar Street. We have no information as to where Route 13 would be relocated if a by-pass is established, but if we are to be guided by what has happened in other places, we can be reasonably assured that a new shopping center, composed of restaurants, drug stores, groceries, hardware stores, furniture stores, etc. will spring up. We would thus have a split town.

To expedite the planned improvements of Poplar Street we feel that the city council should decide the issue at its stated meeting December 4, 1956, and file their decision with the State Highway Department. The city will then have ample time to obtain sufficient areas to care for the parking problem. This can be done as easily now as it could be done later on when the increase in the number of cars on the streets and highways would compel us to do so.

We have explicit faith in Mayor Gibbons and our City Council that they will continue to assert their utmost efforts in the improvement of Harrisburg. Support them in their decision with your presence at the Council meeting tomorrow, December 4, 1956, at 1:00 p. m.
